The Dental Handpiece Repair Guy is a dental handpiece repair company located near Houston in Friendswood, Texas. We service dental clients around the country. The market and demand for our service is enormous! Since the early 1990's, the need for handpiece repair has grown dramatically, in part because OSHA and the American Dental Association recommended dentists sterilize each handpiece after every patient use. Sterilization subjects the handpiece to extreme heat and moisture in a pressurized chamber. We have been providing handpiece repair and sales services to dental clinicians up and down the country whilst maintaining the highest quality at the lowest prices. To this day, we continue to work with dentists all over the UK to surpass expectations in what a repair company can offer. Electric Handpiece Repair Training Package . We train you how to repair electric dental handpieces in a 3 day private training course.
